

Maurice Goodgaine is a Denver native with a wide range of financial experience. Presently, Mr. Goodgaine is a member of the Board of Directors of the Colorado Community Land Trust and the Adams County Housing Authority and serves on their Finance Committee.

He started his career as an accountant and has been the CFO of a small business. Mr. Goodgaine has experience with economic development through small business lending and urban redevelopment with his work at the Colorado Housing and Finance Authority and the Denver Urban Renewal Authority. Most recently, he has been a commercial banker with Community Banks of Colorado. Currently he consults with small businesses.

Mr. Goodgaine's education includes a BS in Accounting and an MS in Business from Colorado State University.