

Colorado Master Gardener Volunteers

Colorado Master Gardener Volunteers assist CSU Extension staff in delivering knowledge-based information to foster successful gardening. The Colorado Master Gardener, CMG, audience is exclusively home gardeners. In Denver CMG volunteers serve by answering phone calls at the county office, staffing a diagnostic clinic at the Cherry Creek Farmers market, presenting talks, writing newspaper and Denver Master Gardener webpage articles, staffing a television viewer helpline, assisting new Habitat for Humanity homeowners with their landscapes and more. Annually statewide, 1,700 CMG volunteers serving in 34 county-based programs contributed $1 million in volunteer time.
