

Sec. 8-121. Quarantine.

- (a) Whenever the owner or possessor of an animal has been notified by any person, whether or not an agent of the manager, or has other cause to believe that the owner's or possessor's animal has bitten or in any other way injured a person so as to cause an abrasion of the skin, the owner or possessor shall immediately notify the manager of the incident and shall immediately restrain the suspected animal within the owner's or possessor's property for observation by the manager. It shall be unlawful for the owner or possessor to fail to give the required notification, to conceal, hide or remove the suspected animal or in any other way prevent or hinder investigation and observation of the animal by the manager.
- (b) Whenever an owner or possessor of an animal has received an order from the manager to closely confine any animal for observation, it shall be unlawful to cause or permit the animal ordered under observation to be removed from its place of confinement for any purpose whatsoever without first obtaining written approval of the manager.
