Thanks for the question. The incentive is if a business is determined to be disability friendly (whether from the beginning or after completing a development plan), they will get a sticker for their window to show they are "Disability Friendly", they will be mentioned in our social media, and they will be included on our website under Disability Friendly Businesses. We do not have any financial incentives to offer, but we will work to provide resources the business may use to help them become more accessible.

14:36:31 From jordan humphreys to Corey Boyle (they/them) - DHS IDDEAS PA(direct message) : I think it is fine, so long as folks can control the urge to discuss IDD business, but I hope IDDEAS will also start doing community outreach meetings in the community as I have long advocated for....and that would be business related for open meetings purposes but hopefully would avoid all the normal business we discuss and focus on engagement with community 14:36:34 From Corey Boyle (they/them) - DHS IDDEAS PA to jordan humphreys(direct message) : I think that the fun meet ups are also to get the word out about who we are and to invite people to come, but we are also scheduling specific events for outreach
