THIS IS A PUBLIC DOCUMENT

General Statement of Duties

Manages the functional and operational building information modeling (BIM) group, which includes implementing work plans based on annual goals and the strategic plan; resolves citizen, operational, and management issues; and achieves goals while ensuring resources are used appropriately.

Distinguishing Characteristics

This class is part of the building information modeling (BIM)/digital facilities and infrastructure job family. This series consists of:

BIM Modeler – Performs standard level professional level work using Building Information Modeling (BIM) technology to support city Digital Facilities and Infrastructure (DFI) BIM processes and coordinate the distribution of data and models to and from other departments and processes including asset management, maintenance, operations, design, and construction processes.

BIM Project Manager I – Performs full performance professional level work using Building Information Modeling (BIM) technology to support city BIM processes and coordinate the distribution of data and models to and from other departments and processes including asset management, maintenance, operations, design, and construction processes.

BIM Project Manager II – Performs specialized and advanced performance professional level work using Building Information Modeling (BIM) technology to support city BIM processes and coordinate the distribution of data and models to and from other departments and processes including asset management, maintenance, operations, design, and construction processes.

BIM Supervisor – The BIM Supervisor is a first level management class. The BIM Supervisor supervises the performance of professional and advanced professional level work using Building Information Modeling (BIM) technology to support city BIM processes and coordinate the distribution of data and models to and from other departments and processes including asset management, maintenance, operations, design, and construction processes.

BIM Director – The BIM Director is the highest-level management class in the BIM series. A BIM Director manages a division and is generally responsible for supervising managers, supervisors, and individual contributors, which includes implementing work plans based on annual goals and the strategic plan; resolves citizen, operational, and management issues; and achieves goals while ensuring resources are used appropriately.

Essential Duties
