Brief project description

Babi Yar Park is a memorial park commemorating Ukrainian Jews and others in Kiev who are victims of Nazi massacre in 1941-1943. The original design was by Lawrence Halprin and Satoru Nishita and a 2011 renovation was by local Landscape Architecture firm, Mundus Bishop.

The project includes resetting existing granite capstones with skate deterrents in a few areas, re-tinting monolithic monolith inscriptions that are faded away, and restoring finishes on concrete walls at the west train car bridge.
